

OF INTEREST TO POULTRYMEN

Recent Experiments Conducted by the Poultry Division of Dominion Experimental Farms

After glancing through the report for 1921 of the Dominion Poultry Experiment Station, one is almost inclined to say "Inquire within about everything regarding poultry keeping" for in the thirty-four pages of which the report consists, a vast amount of information is given about prices, about incubation, about brooding, about feeding, and as regard pedigree breeding, housing, egg-laying contests, diseases of fowl, and of extension work in Quebec and North Ontario. The progress is recorded of poultry breeding and keeping at all the twenty-two farms and stations comprising the Dominion Experimental Farms system. While at present there are two or even three breeds of birds on some of the farms, tests are going forward to determine which is the best single kind for each locality. At the beginning of the present year, eighteen of the farms kept Bar red Rocks, ten kept Wyandottes and three Leghorns and Rhode Island Reds. Three of the farms paid some attention to turkeys and four to both geese and ducks. Tables of special interest contained in the report are those recording prices received each month for eggs at each individual station, and the yearly average price received by farmers in the different provinces. All three show that not only have the prices for eggs been generally well maintained but that, during the last seven years, a considerable increase has taken place. The average price in 1915 was 29½ cents per dozen and in 1921, Ottawa excepted, it was 40 cents.

But interesting as quotations of prices are admitted to be, poultry raisers will be quite as much concerned and possibly more, in the records of breeding work that the report contains of the influence of climate upon rearing, on the cost of brooding by different methods, on the results of experiments in drinks and feeds, of fattening for market, of the cost and best methods of raising pullets, of experiments in feeding grain to layers in the five winter months, of experiments in feeding grain to layers, of investigations regarding roach and chicken-pox, and the best remedies for such diseases, and of many other matters of prime importance to the practical poultryman.

THE FALLEN LEAF

(From the French of Arnault)
Poor fallen leaf, where goest thou,
Detached from off thy stem?
The leaf replied, "I do not know;
The strong wind drives me to and fro
From mountain to the glen."

"The oak tree was my one support,
But stormy tempest came,
And broke its spreading branches strong,
And then it hurried me along
From forest to the plain."

"Without complaint or fear I go
Where go the other leaves,
The rose and laurel driven fast,
Submissive to the northern blast,
Or to the zephyr breeze."
—Rev. Lawrence Sinclair

LOCAL &amp; PERSONAL

Miss A. M. Wilson was a business visitor to Lethbridge on Friday last.

Mr. Ralph Nichols, of Lethbridge, was in town on Tuesday for the Sangster-Martin wedding.

J. D. Matheson, barrister, was a Calgary visitor on Monday of this week on professional business.

N. W. Dilatash returned on Friday of last week from a successful deer hunting expedition in the North Fork country.

Miss Lillian Webb, who has been visiting friends in Cardston for a few days, returned to town the beginning of the week.

J. W. Moreau is suffering this morning from a recurrence of his trouble with which he was laid up for a long period last year.

H. W. Bright was in Calgary during the first three days of this week on business in connection with the Hail Insurance Board, of which he is a director.

Mr. H. P. Spears, of Edmonton, organizer for the Canadian Order of Foresters, was in Macleod last week in the interests of the Lodge. While here Mr. Spears enrolled several new members.

Mrs. J. Shaw, of Lethbridge, was in town this week attending the Sangster-Martin wedding which took place last Tuesday. While in Macleod Mrs. Shaw was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson.

Frederick Godwin left Macleod on Saturday afternoon to motor to his home in Los Angeles, California. Mr. Godwin has been farming near Monarch every summer for several years but has now leased his farm and returned north for an indefinite period. Frederick was well known between here and Lethbridge, and will be greatly missed by his many friends.

The Blood Indians this year threshed over 75,000 bushels of No. 1 wheat and about 20,000 bushels of oats have been threshed, leaving the balance which was estimated at 40,000 bushels to be fed in the sheaf, when the crop of 1923 is seeded. The wheat is now being hauled to Macleod for shipment after filling the elevators at Cardston. Agent Faunt is being congratulated on the good crop of 1922, but he smiles and says: "Wait and see our crop of 1923."

Armistice Day, November 11th, was observed by the ringing of bells, and on the street or in the business houses and offices were seen bared heads in remembrance of this date. In 1918, Remembrance of the father, brother, husband or son who had gone forth to the call of duty. The soldiers' monument was decorated by several wreaths from next of kin and others, thus keeping memory fresh. The wreaths were poppies as they grew in Flanders fields and many were the visitors to this spot just to see and go away and remember. From early morning the poppy girls were out to catch the business men as they went their way to office, store or shop, then the visitors in town, and before evening came, all wore a poppy on Armistice Day.

MCLAUGHLIN CAR MAKES RECORD

It has remained for an Alberta driver and a Canadian made car to set an American dirt road record that will probably live for many a year. The stunt was performed Sunday, November 5, when J. Paul Welch, a McLaughlin Buick Master Four, stock model, made the trip from Edmonton to Calgary and return, 415½ miles in 2 hours, 26 minutes and 55 seconds. The time includes two stops at Red Deer for gas, totalling 3 minutes stop at Calgary for registration, 5 minutes, five minutes lost through a puncture, and the period consumed through losing the trail out of Calgary and retracing five miles. The ten miles travelled in this manner is not included in the mileage from Edmonton to Calgary and return. Mr. Welch was accompanied on his trip by Steve Playt.

The fastest time made was from Edmonton to Calgary, 4 hours, 2 minutes; the return trip took 4 hours 51 minutes, 55 seconds, due to losing the trail and the puncture. The fastest the car travelled was 68 miles per hour and the slowest 15 miles. Turns were made at 35 miles an hour by the expedient of turning the front wheels practice which Driver Welch does not sharply and looking the rear ones, a recommendation for amateurs.

The common stock motor of the Master Four performed perfectly, declares Mr. Welch, living up to a trial that should never have been asked of it. The car itself was five feet in the air after some of the bumps, taken at 60 miles an hour, but that strain was minimized by the Hartford shock absorbers with which the car was equipped. On the return home there was not a rattle in the machine; even the body bolts had not loosened.

DATES OF RED CROSS CAMPAIGN EXTENDED

Dates for the membership enrolment and finance campaign of the Alberta division Canadian Red Cross, have been extended throughout the province to admit of the canvass being made in those districts where it was impossible to arrange for the campaign during the official membership week. Districts which have not yet been able to organize their enrolment will be allowed until December 15th to complete the drive.

In Calgary the canvassers met with great success. In many cases people were not prepared to join when the workers called, but those citizens invariably called at the local office of the Society in order to join. One man wanted to know what the Red Cross was doing and when the Secretary briefly outlined the work to him, he made a $10 donation.

Information received from various sources, the people of the province are doing their best to give support to the Red Cross, and there is a very widespread realization of the good work which is being done by the Society.

At Leduc an energetic committee sources indicates that although money is making efforts to cover the entire district, and good results are expected. Cardston is organizing under direction.

section of Mr. I. Olson, local secretary of the Red Cross Society, assisted by Mr. A. Coombs.

At Raymond, Mrs. Rouse is in charge of the enrolment, with the assistance of Mrs. Gould and Mr. Blackmore, principal of the Raymond school. A successful drive is expected in the Blackie district with Mrs. Scott in charge. A committee of prominent citizens is assisting.

The present attempt of the United States to "dry" up the oceans is going to be some job.

THOUSANDS DEAD BY QUAKE

Santiago, Chile, Nov. 13.—Relief forces to aid the thousands made homeless by the earthquakes through out Chile early Saturday morning and the flooding waves which followed the shocks were being mobilized today. The death toll probably will be at least one thousand, it is estimated, and the property loss will run into millions as several large towns were almost entirely wiped out and heavy damage to buildings and communication lines and particularly to ships along the 1,400 miles of coast affected by the huge waves has resulted from the violent upheavals of nature.

FOR MRS. LAWSON

Edmonton, Nov. 9.—Commissioner Bryan announces that he had today forwarded to Mrs. Lawson, widow of the late Constable Lawson, a savings certificate for the sum of $1,000. Of this sum, $1,100 was subscribed by the officers and men of the Alberta provincial police force, the remaining $500 being an anonymous contribution from an unknown donor at Calgary. It is for the killing of Lawson that Emil Picariello is to stand trial.

TURKS STILL TROUBLING

Lausanne, Nov. 13.—The delegates of the Turkish Nationalist government have come to Lausanne as victors and their mood is wholly different than that of the crushed representatives of the sultan who begged for mercy when the treaty of Sevres was drafted three years ago. Their leader, Ismet Pasha, boasts of support from the Russian Soviets and alludes to the uncertainty which new governments in Great Britain and Italy have given to the solidarity of the entente. Mustafa Kemal Pasha certainly seems well entrenched in Europe today. His delegates to the Lausanne conference are confident of being granted the demand that Turkey shall be relieved of the capitulations which are extra-territorial rights granted to foreigners in Turkey. They are almost firm and confident in believing that full sovereign reign will accrue to their government through the conference.

Having beaten the Greeks at arms the Turks apparently are determined to recover practically all the European territory wrested from them by the World War. The Turkish delegation is outspoken in its criticism of the postponement of the conference here. Apparently eager to embarrass the British and French efforts to come to some sort of agreement before the Kemalists representatives, the Turkish group is insistent in urging a quick start of the discussions which were to have begun today.

From the day of its inception fifty years ago the aim of its publishers has been to make of the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal a great paper, securing for it fame and beginning in a very small way, he has started. To work with little or no capital and develop lands was not an easy task, but he went there to win and though he is now a millionaire, he has the same indomitable determination to do things as the usual man of a few years ago.

SIBBALD FARMER SOLVES PROBLEM OF GOOD CROPS WHERE MOISTURE'S SCARCITY

His helpful wife, who is a full partner in all his struggles, stood by him and took her share of the hardships with not a word of complaint, and in this was a wonderful help in making things better.

They stuck together, worked in harmony, the boys having just such confidence in the father as boys should and soon things began to come their way.

With a fair amount of land already for crops and with this turning over a large yield, at the time when prices were high, put them over the top and started them on the road to real wealth and there has not been a turn in this road since, while others were situated just as favorably as themselves, have gone down to failure. Mr. Bohannon made up his mind early in the game that what he could pay for at the time he wanted it, he would get and let the rest wait till he could reach it. This has been one of the real sources of his success. He has kept out of debt.

But the time came when things seemed to take another turn and did not look so bright. Weeds crept into the neighborhood and these very weeds seemed to be having his efforts, and to his best, they seemed to get the better of him.

He fully believed that every bit of moisture that was required to grow a weed, would, if properly conserved, grow a wheat plant and also that weeds and wheat made bad bedfellows and some day they must be divorced. But the question came, how can this be done? All the neighbors were in the same boat, and weeds from them were blown on the other and there seemed no way to overcome this.

He cleaned his seed, but even this did not count, for there was weed seed in the soil and this would come up at the same time as the wheat, and of the two, the weeds got the better of the grain.

Then it was that he began to analyze the situation. And it is this analysis that forms the one feature I want to most emphasize, and to my mind makes this very feature the outstanding necessity for every farmer in localities in the dry area to copy. I shall try as far as possible to give the farmer in his own words as I told them down on my recent visit and in so doing, I want to say in this, there is nothing to sell, nor do I want to buy anything, but I am just as sure he is right as I am that I am writing this, for I saw with my own eyes just what I am now telling you.

The particular land in question is the farm of 480 acres on which he lives. Of this there are 400 acres set apart for cultivation and 80 acres in permanent pasture of the 400 acres only two hundred are used each year, the other two hundred being left for preparation for the following year's crop.

The character of the soil is very similar to most of the lands in southern Alberta, and in this is no more adapted to such crops as are grown to the ordinary lands which all this makes this a type sample of what may be done elsewhere. In the operation of this land, he uses only eight horses, and these are all operated by one man.

How It Is Done

His procedure is about as follows: After the seeding is done in the spring, he starts his work of summer-fallow, using an ordinary duck-foot cultivator, cutting nine feet wide, with thirteen 12-inch blades, and in his first process allows them to cut about four inches deep. The use of the wide blades is important, as this fully covers every inch of the soil, and does not allow any of the weed roots, or roots to remain in their position to the detriment of the second operation. This operation is handled with six horses. These blades are kept well sharpened, as dull ones "chuff" the roots rather than cut them, and hinder the work.

As soon as this operation is completed, he again starts the work of cultivation, but this time in an opposite direction. He also removes the two outside blades, and adds two more horses, three being abreast, can be handled to better advantage than any other way and the close draft makes for more effective work, in this operation he claims to get the blades down at least one and a half inches below the first operation. When this is done he again removes two more blades, and sets his levers so to go another one and a half inches deeper, and follows this up until all is completed.

This means that in all he has the land fully pulverized to a depth of at least seven inches, and if possible eight is better, and it is ready to lay by till the following spring, when he puts on an Arne harrow and levels the ridges, ready for the drill.

So far as removing blades, or adding more horses is entirely up to the farmer but he has found this method very satisfactory.

Mr. Bohannon has found that three operations have been sufficient except in certain small areas where it may be the soil is different from the balance, and this may need several operations to put it in the best of condition, but his advice is to do this even if it takes a half dozen operations.

The question of the amount of seed to the acre, is a matter of some moment, his advice being about one bushel of well-cleaned wheat, of the best germination quality.

One of the great advantages of summer-fallow prepared in this way is the entire elimination of the weeds, which during these several dry seasons have become such a menace that in many cases they entirely crowd out the crop, leaving nothing of the original seed to grain, and so utterly defeat the handling of the land.

Mr. Bohannon shows conclusively that if the weed seeds are turned under with an ordinary plow, and if the surface is at all dry at the time, they may lie there even for a year or more only to come to the front, when they are again turned up, and become the same menace if not worse, than if they had been on the surface.

Right here seems to be one of the very best points in favor of the process followed by Mr. Bohannon. One thing that impresses me in this system of operation, is the fact that it will not cost any more than the ordinary way of handling land for summer-fallow, and when such outstanding results may be shown, I see every reason for adopting this in any section where there are not too many stones which in any case will prevent proper cultivation in this way.

Best Method Yet

I have covered a very large portion of Alberta in my various travels, and inspection, and have made a careful survey of methods and conditions, and when I say, I have never seen any system or method that appeals to me as this does. I am saying much, and I shall do everything in my power to place this method before farmers, who like ourselves have met with almost complete failure in our present way of doing things, and adopt this system fully in my operations in the future fully believing that in so doing I will get results which will soon recoup me for the losses I have had during the past few years which are to say the least very serious.

By this process there is no loss of moisture and still the lands are as fully or even better prepared as may be done by the very best plow method, with the assurance that in almost any case may be expected, while with the other we have found it very questionable.

We have millions of acres of as fine lands as there is in the Dominion, and I have said many times that some day a process would be discovered that would make these very acres, which have for a time been sitting as it were, to produce as good crops as anywhere in the Dominion, but it has not been until now that for some reason such process has been discovered and while this may not all at once do all we may hope, still I believe with this start other discoveries will be made which will eventually make this one of the best agricultural sections of Canada.

I think the U.F.A. could do nothing better than to invite Mr. Bohannon to attend their annual convention and in his frank way tell those who assembled what he has done, and so impress with the fact that similar methods may be as well. He is a farmer and attends strictly to his own affairs but I am sure he would impress anyone with his frankness and honesty in presenting this system for attention. I admit for some time I have been rather on the side of pessimism, but with the help we have had for the past years and with nothing better in sight unless there was some change of which I was not aware, is it any wonder we all have been discouraged?

But I have taken on a new vision and believe there is a bright future before us if we are wise enough to take advantage of what seems to be right at our command, and any different way of handling our farm operations that seems to promise better results, no matter how much would we may be to our old way of doing things.

ST. PAUL'S TENNIS CLUB

St. Paul's Tennis Club closed a very successful year last Friday night (Nov. 10th) by holding the annual banquet when some thirty members sat down to a splendid repast provided by the ladies of the club.

The toast list included "The Ladies" and "The Tennis Club," the former proposed by Rev. S. H. Middleton, and the latter by J. Roberts.

The musical programme consisted of items by Mr. C. K. Underwood, who was in really first class form, and was fully capable of providing the whole evening's entertainment. His rendering of the song, "Mother's Love" contrasted the pathos between his delightfully funny rendering of "The Charge of the Light Brigade." Other solos were rendered by Mrs. MacMillan, Mr. Middleton, a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Bellamy, and war-time anecdotes by Mr. B. Meigs, songs and recitations by Mr. Bradley. Altogether the evening was one of splendid enjoyment, and the club is to be congratulated on this fitting culmination of a highly successful year.

"You've been to Bangkok?" "Yes," "It must be a quaint city. What did you see there?" "Well, there was a pretty good Chaplin film at one of the movie houses."

The management of the Seed Fair find that they omitted to include Fair in the prize list. Farmers are requested to bring in their samples of flax. The prizes are the same, and the quantity for exhibition is one-half bushel and 10 bushels for sale.

A meeting of the Agricultural Society was held in the town hall last Saturday afternoon to make final arrangements for the Seed Fair to be held on Dec. 1st, and the annual meeting on Dec. 8th. Prospects look good for a successful seed fair this year. The members' wives are giving a luncheon for the visitors, and the Alford orchestra will be present to render a few good musical selections. ## DRY GOODS, BOOTS & SHOES, CLOTHING, ETC. GROCERIES

The Grocery Department is Making Preparations for Christmas

Candied Fruits, Preserved Peels and Ginger Root. We will try and make the coming New Year as bright as we can. Although the harvest has been an improvement on the past four years, yet it did not come up to expectations. The papers are very misleading, and the commercial travellers think they only have to ask a merchant for an order to get it. It was not only a light crop in many cases, but we had to contend with soil-drifting, grasshoppers, cut worms and hail. So you see the merchant has still one foot in and one foot out of the bog. Many farmers have taken advantage of the Government Relief Act and defy the storekeepers to collect before they are good and ready—and that may be years, and may be FOREVER. Yet we will try to live and run our little old store FOR YOUR SERVICE.
